Description: The quality level of an organization's strategic decisions can be a source of competitive advantage and/or new core competence. What tools should be in a leader's strategic decision-making toolbox? During this hands-on seminar, participants will first be introduced to some fundamental concepts of strategy and strategic planning and then they will learn seven valuable strategy tools. A Capstone Exercise at the end of the session will integrate all the topics. The effective application of these tools can help improve the quality level of strategic decisions and develop the capabilities necessary to successfully respond to emergent issues and events.

Audience: Business Unit Leaders, Service Line Leaders, Division/Department Leaders, Quality Management and Continuous Improvement Leaders, Lean Six Sigma Experts
