Course Description

Leaders of organizations spend some of their time developing, deploying, and accomplishing strategic objectives. There are many best practice approaches used in the world today for these tasks such as Strategic Management, Strategic Planning, Balanced Scorecard, and Hoshin Kanri. In this one day course, participants will learn the similarities and differences between these approaches; discuss some of the global trends and events that are affecting organizational performance; learn some of the classic and timeless strategy concepts; and learn some of the leading-edge techniques for environmental scanning, scenario planning, developing objectives, deploying objectives, and conducting progress reviews. This course is essential for anyone who is involved in setting the strategic direction of their organization and/or responsible for overseeing the execution methodologies that will move their organization in that direction.
